

Introduction to the Western HVAC Performance Alliance

- Founded in 2009, the WHPA is an industry association that provides expert industry expertise to utilities, California public agencies, and other entities nationally and globally on improving HVAC energy efficiency.
- WHPA members have the unique opportunity to speak directly with policymakers and bring perspective on how potential programs and policies might play out in the real world.
- More than 30 work products have been developed by WHPA members, reflecting industry expertise on many HVAC/R and energy topics.
- People participate in the WHPA by joining committees and working groups, each with a particular focus such as commercial maintenance, residential installation, workforce education & training, and more (view all).
- Membership is free. Active participation is recommended. Complete a registration form today and make an impact.
